There is a belief that seems to be increasing amongst those interested in tracing their ancestries that everything can be found on the Internet. In fact, this not only is erroneous, but leads to particular hazards in research. . . .

from FamilySearch.org on January 18, 2007:

SALT LAKE CITY – FamilySearch, in conjunction with the Genealogical Society of Utah and the Utah State Archives and Records Service, announced today that the state's free online index to death certificates is now linked to original images of the historic documents. The integration of the index with free digital pictures of the death certificates issued from 1905 to 1954 by the state will open doors to additional information for family historians and genealogists with Utah ties. To search the index and view the certificates, users need to go to

<http://historyresearch.utah.gov/indexes/index.h>

The online index to 250,000+ Utah deaths was created by the State Office of Vital Records and Statistics and has searchable information limited to the name of the deceased person, their date of death, sex, and where they died. The Utah State

Index Search

Most records held by the Utah State Archives are not indexed. Some creating agencies may have indexed record series, but frequently these are found as an index at the beginning or end of an individual volume, or as a separate record series. Such indexes are then available in paper or on microfilm. A few series are indexed electronically.

These indexes may only index part of a series—particularly if there is already an index available in paper or microfilm to the remainder of the series. Occasional electronic indexes index an entire series.

What follows are full or partial electronic indexes to those portions of our holdings which are available for searching online. The indexes are arranged alphabetically by the name of the creating agency for the series.

How to Search

You may search all of our indexes in the box below. Both personal names and corporate names are searchable, as well as some subjects. To search for a personal name, use the syntax of "surname, givenname middlename" (without the quotes).

For example: Smith, John Henry
(If you search by John Henry Smith instead you may not find him.)

You may limit searches to just a surname or even just a first or middle name. Corporate names and subjects are only searchable by the first word in the name or subject.
